DEVOTED TO THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

GLENDALE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1910.

No. 49

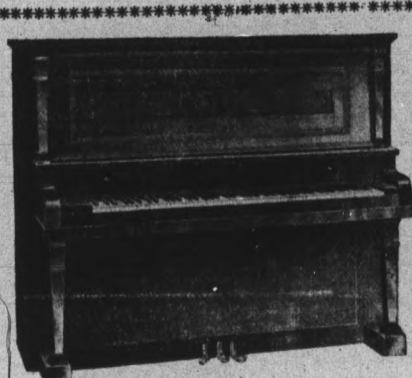

Vol. V.

Tropico and Glendale are practically one community joining Los Angeles City on the north, the former five and the latter six miles in a direct line from the Court House in Los Angeles. Glendale is an incorporated city of the sixth class with about 2700 population. Pacific Electric cars leave sixth street depot half hourly. Eagle Rock cars leaving Twelfth and Broadway every half hour, connecting at Eagle Rock with car for Glendale. Rapidly increasing in population and importance. Schools, churches, fraternal societies, business establishments and all the accessories of an up-to-date suburban community.

A LOCAL INDUSTRY

A Foothill Ranch of Unusual Productiveness—North Glendale Hothouses—Cucumbers and String Beans in March

There is a ten-acre ranch lying up against the foothills in North Glendale with a gentle southern slope that drinks in the sunshine and stores it up for future use, that is bared to the ocean breeze that comes to it tempered by the distance of a score of miles and which is in itself sufficient proof that this section can raise other things than a rumpus and the prices of real estate. On the upper portion of the tract is a raspberry field which produces two crops a year, the last picked this season having been made in January. Adjoining this are about two acres set to crimson rhubarb, now being picked daily and with calls coming in over the telephone every day for more. Later in the season there will be crops of egg plants, onions, melons, etc., the most of which will be consumed in the home market at and around Glendale. The water for the irrigation of these various crops is supplied by a well 237 feet in depth capable of furnishing 9000 gallons of water an hour at a cost of ten cents an hour.

The Hot Houses.

But highly favored as this piece of ground is by nature, artificial means are used to secure the large output of profitable crops which come from here every season. There are on the property three hot houses, 20x32 feet in dimensions, each one representing a cost of about $2500; for glass, of which they are principally composed, runs rapidly into money.

Within the houses is an atmosphere of perpetual summer, the temperature never falling below 60 degrees and getting at times up to near the century mark. During the prevalence of sunshine no artificial heat is required, but at night and in cloudy weather the atmosphere is kept warm by a system of steam pipes running under, above and around the seed beds. At the entrance of every house is an oil burner for heating the water that radiates through the pipes, the fuel being a low-grade oil that is comparatively inexpensive. By an ingenious arrangement the heat is regulated automatically after it is started and requires practically no attention during the night. The most ingenious of all the appliances, however, is the arrangement by which Mr. Leighton can keep watch on the fire by night from his bedroom window, quite a distance away. A mirror is attached to the outside doorpost of the hot houses which reflects the light of the fire within so that a glance is all that is necessary to indicate whether the fire is burning or not. Three kinds of vegetables are raised in these hot houses at present, cucumbers, string beans and egg plants. As one enters the house he inhales the summer air, sees long rows of beautifully green bean and cucumber vines climbing on wires toward the roof, bean pods and cucumbers pendant from them in all sizes and stages of immaturity, the ripe ones being picked daily. There are yellow blossoms in evidence everywhere and the air is filled with the hum of bees, a hive of which is kept in each house for the purpose of carrying the pollen from flower to flower, experience having shown that without the bees there is no fruitage—barren bloom only. Mr. Leighton, the proprietor, has almost abandoned the old reliable White Spine variety, and is producing an English cucumber that grows a foot long or more, deep green in color, having a very small seed cavity and being therefore almost solid. He believes that this variety will soon supercede all other kinds on the Los Angeles market. A cucumber vine reaches maturity in about 68 days from the time the seed is planted and has a useful life of about ten weeks. The first picking here for the season was about November 1st and the harvest will continue until June when the field product comes into the market in competition. At this time the one house that is producing brings in about $100 a day, the daily output being 17 or 18 boxes, the boxes averaging 4 1/2 dozen. The price has been as high as $9 a box but is down now to about $7.00.

String beans, golden wax, are worth now something like 40 cents a pound and at that figure the demand exceeds the supply. Mr. Leighton picks beans daily, but the yield at present is rather limited although coming on rapidly. The egg plants are now in bloom. They are a plant of slow growth, requiring about five months to come to maturity, but the hot house product will be on the market weeks before the field grown vegetable is procurable. Mr. Leighton informs us that while he ships a great deal of his stuff to Los Angeles, yet the quantity he supplies to the local market is surprising, the Glendale stores buying very largely from him during the season.

The school elections occur today—Vote.

Evangelist John M. Kelley of Biddeford, Maine, begins a fortnight's series of evangelistic meetings at G. A. R. hall, Tropico, on Sunday next at 2:30 p. m. He will preach Sunday evening at 7:30 and every evening thereafter for two weeks.

SPORTING NEWS

Last Saturday the Glendale City team beat the Colegrove team again 9 to 5 and when they defeated the strong varsity team of U. S. C. last Wednesday the whole baseball world of Los Angeles was turned toward Glendale.

Mr. Valentine has had an offer to take his pets on the road next week circling the kite-shaped track, as the Occidental team is now doing, but is sorry to announce that a sufficient expense money was not forthcoming (although the railroad fare was guaranteed). It only shows how high Glendale City team is held by outsiders. A challenge has been hurled at our team from Downey to play them there, and Mr. Valentine is trying to arrange to take his team there April 9 and have the Glendale team No. 2 play the Crown City boys on these grounds the same day.

Through some mistake some of the sporting news of Saturday, March 12, was omitted and is herewith given. In the morning at the high school grounds the Glendale high track team defeated Burbank high, the final score being 62 to 51. At noon the Burbank high was entertained by Mr. Valentine at the Glendale hotel, where a sumptuous feed was provided them by Mr. Gray the proprietor. It seems that everyone Mr. Valentine feeds loses, for the Burbank team (composed mostly of the track team) lost to Glendale City No. 2, the score being 6 to 5, in five innings. Then the Glendale City No. 1 beat the Union Hardware 9 to 2, making a clean sweep for Glendale.

THE CHURCHES

Catholic Church

Sunday services at 9 a. m. Sermon in English by pastor, Rev. James S. O'Neill. Solo at Offertory by Mrs. Girard, accompanied on the organ by Harry Girard. Everybody welcome.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Services as usual. Preaching by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Utter. Subject of the morning sermon, "The Day We Celebrate." All are cordially invited.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

As the Easter services at the Baptist church were postponed last Sunday morning, they will be held next Sunday. There will be a special sermon by a supplied pastor, and especially appropriate selections will be given by the choir.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The morning service will be the special Easter service prepared for last Sabbath but postponed by the rain. The evening service will be a symposium by three ministers on their view of the resurrection, with special music. April 10 will be the regular communion Sabbath.

Members of the Presbyterian Church, held Wednesday night, the reports submitted by the various organizations showed the church to be in a flourishing condition. The finances are in good shape and the church starts the new year with a clean balance sheet—in fact, there is a small surplus in the treasury.

ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

April 3, first Sunday after Easter. Services, litany, Holy Communion and sermon, at 11 a. m. Evening service 7:30 p. m. Dr. Trew will officiate at both services. It is hoped that members and friends who were unable to attend last Sunday through the inclemency of the weather will be able to make their Easter offerings next Sunday.

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY CENTER.

Meetings at 432 West Fourth street as follows:

Sunday school at 3 o'clock. Bible class giving spiritual interpretation of the International Sunday School lessons taught by Miss Suzanne Dean of Los Angeles.

Talks on vital truths of Christianity practically applied each Wednesday at 2:45 by Miss Eva Fulton of the Home of Truth, Los Angeles.

Library and free reading room open to the public Tuesdays and Fridays. Mrs. Zona Maxson Pringle, healer and librarian, extends a welcome at all times to those seeking help or information.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

The pastor expects to baptize and receive into full membership the new class at the morning hour and in the evening will preach on David, another sermon to the young men of the community.

Official board Monday night. The Ladies Aid society will meet Tuesday 2 p. m., with Mrs. Ed. M. Lee, 106 S. Cedar street.

Bible school board meeting Wednesday night after the regular prayer meetings.

Subject of Epworth League devotional meeting "The Sabbath Rest and the Week Day Toll." Luke 23:56; Mark 2:23-28.

Sunday school social this evening, April 1, in the primary building. Three united with the church last Sunday.

NOTICE OF SCHOOL ELECTION.

There will be an election held at the Sixth Street School Building, Friday, April 1st, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., to elect two trustees, one for two years and one for three years.

H. G. DOMINY, Clerk.

Don't forget the Kirmess. See ad on page 4, under Amusements.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

The condition of the realty market may be said to be good. Agents report conditions generally satisfactory and the lumber yards are kept busy filling orders and figuring on new contracts. New houses are going up in nearly all quarters of the city and in adjoining sections. Near Casa Verdugo activity in the building line continues. A dozen houses are under way in the subdivision lying between Remington street and Park, west of the laundry, where about twenty-five are to be erected as fast as possible. It is reported that twenty houses are to be put up soon on the Kelley tract near Casa Verdugo. On Brand boulevard work is being pushed rapidly on the Ezra Parker one story brick. The brick work on the McIntyre block, 4th and Glendale avenue, is completed.

Mr. J. W. Fairchild has laid the foundation for a two-story brick business block on the corner of Fourth and Mary streets (old High school property). It will be fifty feet front by sixty-five feet deep and the upper story will be divided into apartments, there being two store rooms and an office room on the first floor. It is not the builder's intention to complete the building at once.

Paul V. Tuttle is preparing plans for a one-story brick store building, 4x60 feet, to be erected on Fourth street near Glendale avenue, for M. L. Godfrey, pressed brick front, composition roof, electric wiring, modern in all respects.

Other new buildings may be noted as follows: M. S. Romick, Hawthorn street and Pacific avenue, a home costing about $1600.

E. F. Sapland, contractor for Smith & McLaughlin, Orange street, between First and Second, a residence to cost $2500. It is understood that these same gentlemen contemplate the erection of several high-class residences on their subdivision, the Glendale Park tract.

Peerless Realty company are building on Milford street west of Central, a $1600 bungalow.

F. W. Pigg, on Orange street between First and Second streets, a $1700 house.

J. W. Fairchild, on Mary street between Fourth and Fifth streets, a small six-room cottage.

CITY TRUSTEES.

Trustees met Wednesday evening with Anderson, Grant, White present; absent, Blackburn and Watson. Regular demands to finance committee. Previous demands allowed.

The attorney reported that the summons and complaints in the proceedings for the widening of Sixth street are all in the hands of the city marshal for service. Trustee Blackburn entered the meeting at 7:30.

A communication from General Manager McMillan of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, in answer to request of citizens that a crossing be provided at Chestnut and Brand. Received and placed on file. Clerk instructed to answer communication. Report of city marshal for March received and placed on file.

Matter of improving that portion of Adams street acquired by condemnation proceedings referred to street superintendent with power. Matter of culverts on Third street and Glendale avenue referred to city engineer to report at next meeting. Committee on public works recommended that no action be taken on petition to change boundaries of fire district No. 4. On motion, adopted.

Communication from League of California Municipalities in regard to suits brought by Cameron Sceptic Tank Co. against cities of California for infringement of patent, and asking for contribution to assist in determining the rights of cities in this matter. Action referred to next meeting. Adjourned.

AT THE COUNTRY CLUB.

The dance given at the Country Club house last Friday evening was one of the most brilliant and enjoyable of the many pleasant affairs that have taken place in quarters of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brand were host and hostess for the evening and it goes without saying that everything was furnished and done for the guests who almost crowded the rooms, that was required to minister to their pleasure. A piano and snare drum furnished the music for the occasion. Refreshments were served in elegant style and profusion.

A SOCIAL.

The Phaltheas and Baracas of the Tropico Presbyterian church gave a social Friday evening, March 18, in the parlors of the church. About fifty guests were present who enjoyed the hospitality of the club. Music and games were played, "A Penny for Your Thoughts," being a most interesting feature of the evening; two prizes awarded. Miss Lizzie Doyle and Merrill Blain were the winners. Refreshments were served, after which all departed for home declaring a most enjoyable evening.

Mr. Atkinson, agent of the Salt Lake company here, has rented a house on Fifth street belonging to Mr. Goss and will move into it with his family this week.

Announcement for all ball games will be found on page 4, under Amusement Advertising.

THE SCHOOLS

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The senior class is busy making preparations for commencement week. As formerly announced, there will be no class play this year and the class day program will consist of formal exercises of the honor students of the class and an address by the principal. The following is the order of rank of the graduating class: 1, Owen Rhodes; 2, Margaret Nichols; 3, Clarence Smith; 4, Lillian Elias and Evelyn Utter; 5, Ray Morrow and Kenneth Barager.

The following board of editors has been elected to take charge of the last edition of the "Stylus," always a commencement number: Editor in chief, Amy Johnson; assistant editor, Elizabeth Clarke; literary board, art, Edward Var Darvort; music, Frances Jackson; society, Laella Moore; athletic editor, Merle McNett; joke editor, Allen Davenport; business manager, Clyde Morrow and Clarence Emery; exchanges, Melson Sprinkle.

The library has been increased by the purchase of complete sets of the works of James Whitcomb Riley, Hopkinson Smith, Thomas Nelson Page and Eugene Field.

The preliminary class try-outs for the oratorical contest will be held this week. Later a public contest will be held between the successful participants. Each class will have representatives. Owen Rhodes, Evelyn Utter and Kenneth Barager, 12th year; Owen Emery and Emma Pulliam, 11th year; Hazel Everts, Monroe Fer Dow, 10th year; Violet Turner, 9th year.

The patrons of the high school will undoubtedly be glad to know that the attendance in school has increased from the first, rather than decreased as usual. The average daily attendance of the first month was 168, for this last month 170. Very few students have left school this year, showing that the interest in the work has been well sustained throughout.

The report cards for the third quarter of the school year will be issued on Friday, April 1st. The faculty invites the careful attention of the parents to the grades in each case.

A complete set of stage scenery has been painted for the auditorium. There are two drop scenes for backgrounds and three others for all purposes. The school is now as well equipped in this line as any in the state.

The suburban section of the Los Angeles County League will hold its track meet at Occidental next Saturday. Glendale will hardly prove as successful as in previous seasons as its track work has not been developed this year. The basketball season lasted so long and the best material has not always been available. But the entrants will do their best under the able captain, Owen Rhodes.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

The latest school statistics compiled under the direction of the superintendent of public instruction are as follows:

Teachers.

The total number of teachers in California is 10769, of which number 9305 are women and 1466 are men. There are 9100 teachers in the elementary schools (grades 1 to 8), of which 8200 are women and 900 are men. The number in the kindergarten schools is 179—all women. The number in the high schools is 1490 (924 women; 566 men).

Of the total number of teachers the men form 13 per cent; of the elementary teachers the percentage of men is a trifle less than 10 per cent.

Pupils in Attendance.

The total number of teachers in California is 351,145 (boys, 180,481; girls, 170,664). The enrollment in the high school is 34,298 (boys 15,386; girls, 18,912). Elementary schools, boys 162,321; girls 148,768; total 311,089. Kindergarten, boys, 2774; girls 2984; total 5758.

The girls outnumber the boys in the high schools, but the number of boys in the elementary grades is greater than the number of girls.

Nearly 89 per cent of the enrollment is in the elementary grades. Not quite ten per cent is to be found in the high school. The kindergarten enrollment is a little more than 1.5 per cent of the total.

SIXTH STREET PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.

The Parent-Teachers association of the Sixth street school will meet at the school house Monday afternoon, April 11, at 3 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged and light refreshments will be served.

CONTEST NEWS.

The new contestants are lining up for the final sprint in the contest which closes May 1. Get busy quick, boys, and run your scores up.

Mr. Valentine is going to omit the score this week so as to have some surprises in store for you all next week so get in and work to see that you are at the top. The new contestant this week is Warren Woods, the Herald route manager, and watch him close.

GLENDALE, CAL., APRIL 1, 1910

This is April Fools day, but we have not previously noticed that there is any scarcity of the other kinds during the rest of the year.

It was a joyous Easter day from the viewpoint of the farmer who saw the rain come down, but sad indeed for the spring bonnet show!

Teddy has returned from the jungle and already the world sits up and takes notice. We just begin to realize that for a year we have all been having a rest from the strenuous life.

There may be honor among thieves in some places, but it seems scarce among that choice Pittsburg collection, every one of whom seems anxious to confess and save himself at the expense of the others.

Just about this time of year when "the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," the old man gets behind a plow, turns up the soil and sows the seed for the summer harvest. It is a fortunate thing for the world that the old man's thoughts turn into useful channels, the young folks will want some place to board next winter.

According to Prof. Campbell of Lick observatory, Halley's comet will be visible to unaided vision on or about April 8th, next Friday, a short time before dawn, and it will be worth while to get up early and look for it a day or two before and after that date.

It will soon thereafter be lost in the sun's blaze to reappear sometime in May as an interesting object in our evening sky.

We have not lost confidence in President Taft, and one thing that commends him to us especially is the fact that he does not play to the gallery. His honesty is unquestioned and his intelligence is of a high order. He knows the feeling of the people and does not court popularity by pandering to popular prejudice and thus shows his innate honesty. Any one who has taken the trouble to read his speeches in defence of the tariff bill, has found therein a clear and logical exposition of that intricate matter and an argument in favor of his contention that the bill is on the whole a "revision downward," which no layman can refute and probably no expert gainsay. His defence of Aldrich and Ballinger did not set well upon the public mind, but his reasons for his action in both cases were at least worthy of respect and we believe that at the worst the American people are holding their final judgment in suspense.

San Diego seems to be a loser in the matter of the Panama Canal World's Fair Celebration, but has put up such a splendid fight that it ought to have the next best thing, whatever that may be. Aside from the necessity of being unanimous in the matter when it comes to asking congress for an appropriation, there are really a number of good reasons why it seems impossible for a small city with only a sparsely settled back country to draw upon, to make such a great undertaking a success. Assuming that the great crowds of visitors which are necessary to make an international exposition a success, should materialize, the questions of transportation and telegraphic facilities are serious ones. It is pretty safe to assume that neither the railroads nor the telegraph companies would wish to have a world's fair held in San Diego. It would entail great preparations on their part at immense expense to meet the emergency with no subsequent use for the facilities provided.

The Greater Glendale idea continues to grow much more rapidly than we anticipated. The opposition to it is only such as could be foreseen and is quite a natural consequence of the point of view occupied by the objectors. Those who took an active part in the fight for the incorporating of Glendale, are familiar with all the arguments advanced against annexation now, as they are merely echoes of the same ideas then expressed. But in the first case it has been seen that the quite important portion of the people who voted "No" on the question at first, are now completely reconciled to the result. They see that their property has increased in value to an extent far in excess of any additional taxation, and that Glendale instead of being nothing in particular and nowhere especially, is now a splendid example of the benefits of home government and occupies a comparatively conspicuous place on the map.

INCORPORATE THE LABOR UNIONS.

In the editorial columns of this paper a few weeks ago in commenting on the Philadelphia strike situation, we called attention to the injustice of the popular demand for arbitration between employers and employees after a strike had actually gone into effect. This injustice arises from the fact that the two parties to the controversy cannot possibly be placed upon the same footing before the law under existing conditions and that the employer whatever the verdict of the arbitrator may be, always stands in a position compelling him to be the loser. The employer being a possessor of property which he cannot conceal, may easily be compelled to obey the law and to abide by the verdict in arbitration. But this does not follow in the case of that intangible (legal) nonentity, the labor organization.

This idea was confirmed a few days ago by the report of a traveler just returned from Australia, the land where "government ownership," "compulsory arbitration" and other kinds of "higher thought" statesmanship are in vogue. A great strike was on at the New Castle coal mines and had for many days tied up that business to the serious detriment of manufacturing and other interests. The result would have been much more serious than it was had it not been for the fact that the government owned other coal mines from which some supply of fuel was obtainable. Compulsory arbitration had not been invoked because of the generally admitted futility of it. The labor unions are a mere aggregation of individuals and cannot be dealt with as a whole, because no means of compulsion has been discovered by which their obedience to a legal mandate may be secured. When a strike is inaugurated, the members of the union withdraw their individual deposits from the banks and take other effective means to deprive the law of any hold upon them. The decree of the arbitrator may be that they return to work, but it cannot be enforced as against the individual, for the inherited right to loaf is one of the features of personal liberty. Compulsory arbitration is theoretically all right, but arbitration should come before a strike, not afterwards; and, to make it possible to enforce the mandate of the court, the labor unions should be compelled to incorporate and thus become a legal and tangible entity.

Dr. Elliot, until lately for many years the president of America's greatest university, does not appear to put the same value upon the "higher education" that seems to possess the popular mind. He says, "Many illiterates have common sense, sound bodies, and good characters. Indeed, it is not clear that education increases much the amount of common sense which nature gave the individual." When such a high authority admits the inability of the colleges and universities to make good citizens, the layman may be excused for expressing a doubt as to the utility of the universal demand for more and more education. The number of years spent in school by the children of the well-to-do is too large a proportion of their natural lives and it would not be difficult to prove, we believe, that it is an economic loss. In every community can be found examples of fathers and mothers shortening their own lives by overwork and the eternal worry of trying to make "both ends meet" in an effort to "give the children an education." Up to a certain point this is a necessary and most laudable ambition, but beyond that it is doubtful whether this selfishness on the part of the parent does not degenerate until it ceases to be a virtue. This does not apply, of course, to the education of the youth who intends to follow some one of the "learned" professions, or who intend to specialize in some direction. Even in regard to the professions it does not follow that school is in all cases the best place to acquire them.

The young man who can find the opportunity to learn the rudiments of a profession by actual practice under the tutelage of a past master in the particular art that he wishes to acquire, will have advantages which cannot be secured in schools. Self-education is after all the best education and the door of knowledge yields readily to the earnest seeker. The very phrase, "Give the child an education," does not ring true. It were better to give the child an opportunity to "get an education." The gift is never appreciated so highly as the thing acquired by one's own effort. The grammar school should be capable of giving to every child all the school education which the average citizen requires. The tendency seems to be to do everything for the student and leave as little as possible for him to do for himself. This is exemplified by a recent recommendation of the California superintendent of schools to the effect that study at home be discouraged, leaving it all for the hours spent in school. The San Francisco Argonaut concludes an article on this subject as follows:

"We may yet have to recognize that the educational duty of the state toward the child begins and ends with teaching him to read, write and cipher and so allow him the inestimable discipline of fighting and struggling for whatever else he wants."

THE NEWS AND LOCAL PAPERS GENERALLY.

While the number of subscribers to the NEWS is still below what it should be and what we soon hope to attain, the list continues to grow in a gratifying manner. There come to us occasionally words of appreciation which encourage us to continue in the effort to give Glendale and vicinity a paper that will be of service in its upbuilding. Generally these expressions come from the people who are really best qualified to form a correct judgment in the matter, knowing as they do something of the difficulties which attend the making of a newspaper in a suburban community where the most serious competition encountered is that of the big dailies of a nearby city. And yet this competition is an unnecessary and unreasonable one. The large city paper cannot fill the place of the local publication; it cannot occupy the viewpoint of the people of another community and when the suburbanite depends upon it for local news which is of interest to him, he is sure to be misled. The cost of the local paper is a mere bagatelle to the person who has any interest in the community where it is published, and incidents are occurring daily which prove its value. A few days ago a citizen of a neighboring town dropped into the NEWS office and subscribed for the paper, saying, "It won't pay me to do without it any longer. I lost a horse two weeks ago and have been hunting for it ever since and only yesterday I heard that it was advertised in your paper; I've got the horse now and here's your dollar and a half." As a medium to bring together the loser and the finder of lost articles along the paper is worth the money? There are several articles of value now in our possession which go to show that there are misguided people yet in the community who do not know the value of the local paper. Among our collection is a set of false teeth which we have tried on the whole force down to the office cat and they are no earthly use to us. It requires no serious effort of the imagination to picture the unutterable anguish of the owner of these teeth—all of which might have been averted if he, she or it, took the local paper.

TRAMPING CLUB WALKS TO VERDUGO PARK.

The Skiddoo Tramping club, recently organized at this place, took advantage of the enchanting moonlight last Monday evening and rambled as far north as Verdugo Park. The start was made from Glendale at about 8 o'clock and the party, consisting of a dozen of the young people of this place and Hollywood, meandered in bunches of twos, three and fours, principally twos, up Glendale avenue and out into the country to the north. Although the moon had not yet risen it was sufficiently light for the party, with difficulty, to pick their way along the track and road. Shortly after 9 o'clock the entrance of the park was reached, and, just by way of recreation, each member of the party took his or her turn hurdling the high fence at the gateway, trespassing further on forbidden ground. And the moon still remained behind the hills to the east. Some (appeared) worried over this fact; others deciding that it was not so inconvenient after all.

A short stay was made at the park, then the homeward journey was begun. Races, snap the whip, and other frolics were enjoyed on the way home; each one doing his share in making the evening informally delightful. When about halfway home the party quieted down, and in some unaccountable way the different sections of the crowd seemed to stray apart, each section, unconsciously to them, lead by some wonderful unseen force, decided to return by a different way than had been decided upon by the company. Hence they arrived in Glendale at short, and long, intervals apart.

Arriving here they adjourned to a home of one of the members and enjoyed one of the royal of Dutch suppers. Everything was there except the bracer, which found a very good substitute in coffee. Around the table all kinds of stories were told; some true, some otherwise, each doing its share in continuing the merriment. The features of the "spread" was the manner in which Dan got away with those two extra rolls and doggies. He won the sauer kraut by four laps.

The winsome lassies from the emotionless village, situated just over the rise of hill to the west, added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

THE COMING ELECTION

A Quiet Campaign—Sketches of the Candidates

The municipal election is only ten days away and as yet we fail to notice any evidence of anything like a lively campaign. There is no issue dividing the people of the municipality and it is acknowledged that all of the candidates are men of good repute who if elected will at least try to do their duty. In this Glendale is certainly to be congratulated for some other sixth class cities are vent wide open on the saloon, pool-room or some other issue. We append herewith brief biographical sketches of the candidates for trustee for the information of the voters. Attention is again called to the fact that the question of allowing compensation for trustees, amounting to $3 for one meeting a week is also to be submitted to the voters. Voters should also note that the positions of a two-year term trustee and that of a four-year term official are practically different positions and they should be careful not to cast a vote for more than one of the two-year candidates nor for more than two of the four-year candidates. Messrs. White, Coker and Shropshire are the candidates for the two four-year terms to be filled; and Messrs. Lane and Brockman the candidates for the one two-year place. It will be evident therefore, that of the three names first mentioned here only two can be elected and of the latter two names, only one can be chosen.

L. E. Brockman.

Mr. Brockman was born in Nebraska 26 years ago. He came to California in 1885 and lived on a ranch near the then city limits of Los Angeles (now annexed) until coming to Glendale in 1898, where he built a commodious residence on Second street east of Verdugo road where he has since resided with his family. Mr. Brockman has never aspired to nor held official position of any kind. He announces as his platform that he believes in conservative expansion, municipal ownership, good streets and parks, and the enforcement of the laws.

H. P. Coker.

Mr. Coker was born in British Columbia in 1867, becoming a citizen of the United States through the naturalization of his father, who brought him to California when the boy was six years of age. Practically all of his life since that time has been spent in California, except for a short time in Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Coker came to Glendale six years ago, selecting a location on Third street east of Adams as the place for their home. For 18 years Mr. Coker was connected with the Scripps-McRae Publishing company, doing work on the newspapers of that concern in all departments, putting in four years in San Diego and four years in Los Angeles, being connected with the Record in the latter city until he went into the feed and fuel business on Brand boulevard last September. He has never filed a public office.

O. A. Lane.

Was born in Canada, coming to the United States in 1881 and to California in 1887, and went into business in San Francisco in 1890, residing in Oakland until the fall of 1906, when he came to Los Angeles and to Glendale in 1907, making his home in Lomita Park. Mr. Lane's principal business has been real estate but he has at different times been engaged in other enterprises. He is at present a large orange and lemon grower, having forty acres in orchard at Cucamonga, San Bernardino county. He is also a large stockholder and a director and treasurer of the Los Hornes Sugar Co., whose plantations are in the state of Vera Cruz, Mexico. He is interested in the development of oil and other enterprises. Mr. Lane is one of the library board of the City of Glendale. It was largely through his efforts that the sum of $13,000 was received for the old high school property instead of $10,000, the price first offered.

J. P. Shropshire.

Was born in 1858 in Henry county, Ky. Was brought up on a farm where tobacco growing was the specialty. He removed to Missouri in 1883 where he followed farming for a year and then learned the carpenter trade. He was married in 1887 and soon after went into the business of contracting and building, putting up some of the best buildings in the town and several for himself. He moved to Los Angeles in 1902, locating at Pico Heights. Was in the men's furnishing and shoe business for a short time, but his health failing was obliged to seek a higher altitude and came to Glendale in 1906. He owns a fine property on the corner of Everett street and Fifth, has retained his health and re-entered the contracting business. Has no political aspirations, has never held public office and is now a candidate solely because of the solicitations of his fellow townsmen.

John Robert White, Jr.

Mr. White was born in Philadelphia in 1870 and is a graduate of the class of 1891 University of Pennsylvania. He went into the mercantile business there and has been engaged principally in the same line since coming to California in 1896, except for the first five years spent in the state, when he was on a ranch at Burbank. He is associated with the California Furniture company, Los Angeles, as buyer of carpets and rugs. Has never held public office until appointed trustee of the City of Glendale to fill a vacancy. His platform is "For all that is good for Glendale." He resides at 508 Brand boulevard.

Editor GLENDALE NEWS:

I take this opportunity of expressing to my friends my appreciation of the confidence and trust they have shown in my ability by nominating me as candidate for trustee of the city of Glendale, and if elected to office I will endeavor to maintain our present municipal integrity.

L. E. BROCKMAN.

Your Checks are Receipts

"Pay as you go" is an excellent maxim provided you "pay-by-check." It's foolish to carry money on the person, except for the smallest purchases and incidentals, for aside from the care and inconvenience there is always the danger of theft or loss.

But with a check-book of this bank in your pocket the inconvenience and worry is eliminated. You write out a check for the exact amount of each purchase, your check-stub is a record for reference and the check itself will later be returned to you by the bank and may be retained as a receipt.

Some persons may think of the check account as being complicated. Nothing could be more simple, however. We keep books for you and there is a record for every transaction.

BIG DAIRY COMBINE. H. E. MACMULLIN BUYS THE COWS OF THE O. K. DAIRY.

Mr. H. E. MacMullin, whose dairy is located on Sycamore avenue west of the West Glendale school house, informs us that he has bought out the entire stock of the O. K. dairy, belonging to L. E. Elliot of North Louise street. The report in circulation to the effect that Mr. Elliot having sold out the animals would be taken from the valley, is without foundation. They will hereafter form a part of the herd of Mr. MacMullin, giving him about ninety cows and forming the largest dairy in the valley.

The MacMullin dairy is under the regular inspection of the county veterinary who visits the dairy every thirty days and assures its sanitary condition. The addition to his herd will necessitate a number of improvements which will be proceeded with at once. A large creamery will be erected which will enable the dairy to supply cream and buttermilk for which there is demand. The growth of the dairy to its present dimensions speaks both for the business ability and reliability of Mr. MacMullin and for the wonderful growth of Glendale and vicinity during the past two years.

Visitors to the MacMullin dairy are always welcome, patrons are cordially invited to call and examine the condition of everything in connection with the establishment and to note that every effort is made to insure the cleanliness and purity of the product.

GLENDAL, CAL., APRIL 1, 1910

EVERYDAY ASTRONOMY. The Queen of Night. (For the NEWS)

"Soon as the evening shades prevail,
The moon takes up the wondrous tale,
And nightly to the listening earth,
Repeats the story of her birth."

So wrote Joseph Addison, about two hundred years ago, in his fine Hymn of Creation, and the "wondrous tale" has only become more fascinating by the investigations of modern science.

Next to the sun, the moon is doubtless the most worthy object of our attention, and it is one of the most interesting recreations to observe her movements as she makes her monthly journey round the earth. When we first see her as a thin white crescent in the western twilight, shortly after sunset, she has but recently, a few days before, passed between us and the sun. Let us suppose the sun sets at 6 p. m., soon thereafter, about 6:15 we discern a delicate bow, of silvery whiteness, which rapidly changes to pale lemon-color as the sun sinks further below the horizon.

The next evening when we see the moon she is somewhat higher in the sky, she has made quite a considerable start in her journey round the earth—in fact, about twelve degrees of the three hundred and sixty forming the complete circuit. Her motion is from west to east, in the same direction as that of the earth, and all the other planets and satellites.

It is an interesting observation to notice the young moon near some planet or star, and to witness the gradual change of relative position of both, as the moon advances in her orbit.

Very frequently there is quite a near approach of the moon to one of the planets, on such occasion the moon and the planet are said to be in conjunction. The dates of these conjunctions being stated in most almanacs, afford an easy method of identifying the planets. The moon will be in conjunction with Jupiter on March 26th, with Venus on April 6th, with Mercury on April 10th, with Saturn on April 10th, and with Mars on April 13th. Mars will also be completely occulted by the moon on the latter date, an interesting phenomenon which does not often occur. Occultations of the fixed stars occur quite frequently, and to those who possess telescopes, afford an equally excellent method of identifying the stars. But in general, the moon is so bright that only stars of the first magnitude can be seen in actual contact with her limb, and even then the contact must be with the unilluminated limb. But with the aid of a telescope, and the predictions given in the almanac two or three of these occultations can be observed during nearly every lunation.

On the third night of our observation the moon will have traversed so much of her journey, that she will be quite high in the heavens, by sunset, and will be nearly one-half illuminated and we can plainly see that she is really travelling round the earth from west to east. We may have read, or been told, that such is the case, but here is an opportunity to obtain the information at first hand by actual observation.

What is called "Full Moon" occurs when the moon has got half-way round the earth so that she presents the whole of her illuminated disc to the terrestrial observer with the earth in between her and the sun, and takes place about fourteen days after new moon. It is popularly supposed that full moon occurs at sunset; that is not quite correct, as may be seen on reference to an almanac. The next full moon will occur on the 25th of March at 8:21 p. m., while the April full moon will occur on the 24th at 1:23 p. m. But when the sun sets on those days, of course, the moon will be very near the full. After this phase we find the moon rising later and later, because she is still continuing her journey, and to see her at all we must get up pretty early in the morning when she makes a very pretty sight gradually diminishing in size until she has again got between us and the sun, and so presents the whole of her dark face earthward.

The average distance of the moon from the earth is two hundred and forty thousand miles, but as her orbit is not quite circular she is sometimes nearer to us than at others. Thus, on the 12th of March she was only 224,000 miles off, while on the 28th of March she will be 252,300 miles away. These distances vary from month to month, but the moon always remains the same. The exact time of one lunation is 27-1/3 days, and as the length of the moon's monthly journey is about one million five hundred and eight thousand miles, she must travel at the rate of about 2300 miles an hour, or about 33 miles a minute. This speed is beyond any we can conceive, but is slow in comparison with the earth's orbital velocity of 18 miles a second in its journey round the sun.

No other object in the sky can compare with the wonderful picture which the moon presents in a telescope of even moderate power, and every one should seek an opportunity to take a peep at her.

X-RAY.

Pigeon Whistles of Pekin.
The smallest musical instruments in the world are the pigeon whistles of Pekin. They are made of thinnest bamboo and tiny gourds scraped to paper-like delicacy and fastened beneath the tail feathers of the carrier pigeons. As the birds fly through the air these instruments emit a weird aeolian melody like the harps of fairyland. Every morning and afternoon the vault of Pekin's sky is swept by these sweet, mournful notes as the birds fly to and fro, carrying messages to the bankers, the merchants, the lawyers, invitations, letters, stock quotations, a system older than the telegraph or telephone or the oldest letter service, as old as time itself. There are some twenty different kinds of pigeon whistles, some of them simple bamboo tubes with but one top and some as elaborately constructed as miniature organ pipes. They are all of featherweight lightness and when held in the hand and swept through the air emit the same delicate whistling notes as when borne through the upper atmosphere by the carrier pigeons.

A Diplomatic Official.
During the reign of Emperor Napoleon III. he and the empress visited Normandy and had arranged to spend a couple of days at Evreux. M. Janvier de la Motte, who was the prefect, learned that the revolutionaries intended to kill the sovereigns as they passed, and so he summoned the leaders of the movement and told them that he knew of their plot. "If you carry out your plan," said he to them, "you will get six months in prison. If you do not your friends will accuse you of cowardice and treason. As a way out of the difficulty I propose to lock you up at once until the emperor has gone." The conspirators accepted the terms offered them, and so the emperor was greeted only by cheers, as the revolutionaries, frightened at the arrest of their chiefs, had not dared to utter a sound. After the emperor and empress had gone the prefect went in person to release his prisoners, who had had such a pleasant time that they greeted him with cries of "Long live the prefect!" to which M. Janvier de la Motte, who was a man of wit, replied, "My friends, do not overdo it."

Settling a Matrimonial Dispute.
Mme. Sada Yacco, the famous Japanese actress, who had been a friend of the assassinated Prince Ito from her childhood, told the following amusing anecdote:
"In my frequent quarrels with my husband we sometimes asked Prince Ito to judge between us. One day when we had had a more than usually violent dispute at Chigasaki the prince came in unexpectedly, and I asked him to decide the question. But he declined, while proposing the following solution:
"Go down into the garden, both of you, and fight it out like sumo (wrestlers). The one that wins will naturally be the one who is in the right."
"No sooner said than done! In a trice Kawakami and I were in wrestling trim. By good luck my husband was just recovering from a serious illness, and as he was very weak I soon threw him to the ground. This amused the prince enormously, who, of course, had foreseen the end of the unequal match."

Cemeteries Where Women Gossip.
Friday, the Sabbath of the Moslems, when all true believers of the masculine gender make a point of going to church, their wives, sisters and daughters resort to the cemeteries and wall for the dead. But all their time is not spent in weeping, and sorrow is not the only emotion they display, on these occasions. They take with them bunches and garlands of flowers and decorate the graves of their relatives and pray and weep over the dead for a time. Then when this pious duty is performed they gather in little groups and have a good time gossiping about the living. Thus the day of mourning is very popular among the Moslem women. It gives them almost the only opportunity they have of cultivating the acquaintance of their neighbors.

The Lion and the Unicorn.
The unicorn came into the royal arms with James I. It belongs to the royal arms of Scotland. The signet ring of Mary, mother of James, is in existence, having a unicorn on it. In the royal arms, therefore, one supporter represents England, the other Scotland.

The lion and the unicorn occur also in ancient Buddhist scriptures, placed together as supporters. Both of these animals also are seen playing draughts together in the well known Egyptian painting. But the oldest connection of the two is in the blessing of Jacob and of Moses. — London Notes and Queries.

Second Thought.
"Dear Mr. Hicks," she wrote, "I am very sorry that what you ask I cannot grant. I cannot become your wife. Yours sincerely, Ethel Barrows." Then she added: "P. S.—On second thoughts, dear George, I think I will marry you. Do come up tonight and see your own true Ethel."

A Subtle Difference.
"And so," began the browbeating attorney to the shabby witness, "you live by your wits, do you?"
"No, sir; by other folks' lack of them," corrected the witness modestly.

Home Course In Domestic Science

IV.—Vegetables In the Diet.

By EDITH G. CHARLTON,
In Charge of Domestic Economy, Iowa
State College.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

THERE are three main reasons for cooking—viz. (1) to develop flavors and make foods more palatable, (2) to make some foods more digestible and (3) to kill germs. As a rule, simple methods for preparing foods are preferable because they preserve the original flavor. Vegetables, which will form the principal subject of this article, are better when cooked simply without the accompaniment of other ingredients.

In cooking any food the first great essential to success is to be accurate in method. Accuracy in measuring and combining ingredients with a knowledge of the effect of heat on different food materials, combined with interest in the task, can almost always be relied upon to insure a successful finished product. Indeed, it can be safely stated that there is no such thing as luck in cooking. Success depends upon a knowledge of certain physical and chemical phenomena which always occur under certain conditions. It is ignorance of or lack of attention to these underlying principles which results in so many unsatisfactory and indigestible dishes being served on our tables.

Composition of Vegetables.
There are a variety of food materials which cannot be classed as nutritious, and yet they have a distinct value in the diet. For instance, fresh fruit and vegetables are not especially nourishing as far as making blood and muscle and giving heat and energy are concerned, but both should be given an important place in the daily bill of fare.

COMPOSITION OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.
1. Composition of potato. 2. Composition of carrot. 3. Composition of cucumber. 4. Composition of apple. 5. Composition of banana. 6. Composition of orange. 7. Composition of lemon.

fare. There are also some food materials which, while very nutritious, require a considerable effort on the part of the digestive organs to make them available for the body. So it is clear that one must know something about the structure, composition and food value of any material before it can be handled intelligently. Now, what about vegetables and their preparation for the table? Practically all green vegetables contain a large amount of water, with a smaller percentage of starch, a very little protein, some sugar, gum and woody fiber.

The older the vegetable the harder the woody fiber becomes until the vegetable which has been left in the ground till late in the season can be torn apart like coarse threads. It is this fiber which renders vegetables hard to digest and which necessitates cooking in order to soften it. Most vegetables contain some mineral matter and certain volatile essential oils which give them their characteristic flavor. If the cooking is not properly performed the essential oils may change in their character and the original flavor of the vegetable be destroyed.

Vegetables are useful in the diet for three reasons:

First.—The mineral salts are needed to keep the blood pure and for bone formation in the young. People who are denied fresh fruits and vegetables for any length of time are likely to develop certain skin diseases.

Second.—The woody fiber, just because of its indigestibility, has a value in the diet. It furnishes waste matter and ballast and assists the action of the intestine.

Third.—Some vegetables, such as potatoes and corn, are rich in starch and when eaten with the protein foods, such as meat, fish and eggs, serve to balance the diet.

Preparing Vegetables For the Table.
All green vegetables should be fresh and crisp when put on to cook. If for any reason a vegetable has become soft or withered it should be soaked in very cold water until it again becomes plump and crisp. All vegetables should be thoroughly cleaned before cooking. Cabbages, cauliflower and brussels sprouts should be soaked; heads turned down, in cold, salted water to which a few spoonfuls of vinegar may be added. If there are worms or bugs in the vegetable they will crawl out in half an hour or a little longer.

To be cooked properly vegetables require rapid cooking until tender. Salt is usually added to the water before the vegetable is put in, except in the case of potatoes, which are better if salted just before draining. It is always better to cook vegetables uncovered, as this allows the escape of gases formed in the cooking. If these are retained they give the vegetable a strong odor and flavor and are sometimes found to be injurious. We all know that cooked cabbage seems to be more difficult to digest than when eaten raw. This is because the kettle is generally kept closely covered and the gases do not escape. Cabbage contains a relatively large amount of sulphur, which makes it indigestible and will cause flatulence when improperly cooked. It is one of the most useful vegetables, being available almost any season of the year, when other green vegetables are difficult to procure. It is therefore worthy of care in its preparation to suit it to the individual tastes and appetites. The quickest and simplest methods of cooking it are the best. It requires plenty of boiling water, a hot fire to keep the water bubbling all the time and thorough ventilation, that the strong smelling gases may be carried off in the steam. Young cabbage will cook in twenty-five minutes. Late in the season it will require at least forty minutes. Overcooked cabbage is dark colored, has a strong flavor and is a cause of digestive disturbances. When the cabbage has been cooked until tender it may be served with only butter and a seasoning of pepper, or either of the following sauces:

Sauce No. 1.
One cupful of cream, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of flour, one tablespoonful of butter, one egg yolk and four tablespoonfuls of cheese. Melt butter, blend with dry ingredients; add cream. Cook until mixture thickens and pour gradually over egg yolks. Add grated cheese and allow to melt.

Sauce No. 2.
Serve with one-quarter cupful of melted butter, one tablespoonful of lemon juice or vinegar, three teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce and one tablespoonful of chopped pimento or red pepper.

Universally as potatoes are served, there is no vegetable which is more often sent to the table absolutely unfit to eat. When kept in a closely covered vessel or allowed to cook in unbroken skins they will become soggy and dark and have a rank flavor. If put on in cold water or allowed to cook slowly so as to become water soaked the potatoes will be most unpalatable. Few vegetables are more popular or more delicious than a potato properly baked, while one that is heavy, watery or toughened is sufficient to cause dissension in the family circle.

For baking select medium sized potatoes, scrub well and dry them. Bake in a shallow pan in a moderately hot oven until soft—about forty-five minutes. When soft press between the fingers to break the skin and allow the steam to escape.

Creamed Potatoes.
Wash, peel and cut in dice of uniform size two cupfuls of raw potatoes. Cook in boiling water until tender, adding salt just before draining. Drain, return uncovered to fire to dry off; then add one cupful of white sauce. Cold boiled potatoes may be used cut in dice and reheated in milk.

White Sauce.
Two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one cupful of milk, one-fourth cupful of cheese, grated, and one tablespoonful of parsley. Melt butter, add flour and seasoning and when blended pour on milk gradually, stirring constantly until boiling.

Potato Salad.
Three cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes, four tablespoonfuls of oil, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one tablespoonful of onion, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper and two hard cooked eggs. Blend carefully and allow to stand on ice for one-half hour. Combine with boiled dressing. Chop whites and grate yolks.

Potato Apples.
Two cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-third cupful of grated cheese, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of cayenne, a little grated nutmeg, two tablespoonfuls of thick cream and yolks of two eggs. Mix ingredients in order given and beat thoroughly. Shape as small apples. Roll in flour, egg and crumbs. Fry in deep fat and drain on brown paper. Insert a clove at both stem and blossom end.

There are numerous ways of preparing all vegetables; but, as previously stated, the simple methods are the best. The main point to remember is rapid cooking in constantly boiling water until tender.

The Castle of Despond.
One of the finest French renaissance buildings in France is the Castle of Despond, famous in the legendary lore of the Toulousain country in which it stands. Over the window of one of the inner courtyards is sculptured in the stone a head above the motto, "Plus d'Espoir." These were the last words of Rose de Martial, whose story has been sung by the poets of Toulouse. She was the daughter of the house of Martial, to whom the castle belonged, and she was courted by the lord of Castelnaud, whose manor she could see from her window. But, although she was beautiful and tender hearted, the lord filled her, and she fell into a melancholy. She sat every day by the window, whence she could see the sickle lord of Castelnaud's manor. One morning he passed by in the valley below. She sang to him, but he never looked up. "Plus d'Espoir!" she cried and threw herself out of the window on to the flags below, where she was killed. The manor of Martial was known thenceforward as the Castle of Despond. The fine building was falling to ruins when M. Fennelle bought it, and he had it completely and skillfully restored before making a gift of it to the nation.

His First Taste of Discipline.
Admiral Jouett, probably one of the jolliest sea dogs our navy ever knew, once told an amusing story of his early days as a cadet.
"I was a sociable youngster," he says, "and when I went to my first assignment, the Independence, and saw the stars and stripes floating over it I remembered my mother had taught me that my first duty was to the flag, so I attempted some conversation on this line with the executive officer who had received me when I came on board and who was one of the strictest disciplinarians in the navy of that day.
"Silence, sir!" he roared at my first question, his face red with anger. "Silence, sir! Who gave you permission to speak? Let me hear only six words from you, sir, while you are on this ship—'port,' 'starboard,' 'yes, sir,' and 'no, sir.'"
"And this was my first discipline in the navy."

A Ludicrous Word Twister.
Professor William Archibald Spooner of Oxford university became famous as a ludicrous word twister. Once at a special service, seeing some women standing at the back of the church waiting to be seated, he rushed down the aisle and addressed the ushers as follows: "Gentlemen, gentlemen, sew these ladies into their sheets." Being asked at dinner what fruit he would have, he promptly replied, "Pigs, fens." This is the way in which Dr. Spooner proposed to his wife: Being one afternoon at the home of her father, Bishop Harvey Goodwin of Carlisle, Mrs. Goodwin said, "Mr. Spooner, will you please go out into the garden and ask Miss Goodwin if she will come in and make tea?" The professor on finding the young lady said, "Miss Goodwin, your mother told me to ask you if you would come in and take me."

Method.
Method is the very hinge of business, and there is no method without punctuality. Punctuality is important because it subserves the peace and good temper of a family. Calmness of mind, which it produces, is another advantage of punctuality. A disorderly man is always in a hurry. He has no time to speak to you because he is going elsewhere, and when he gets there he is too late for his business or he must hurry away before he can finish it.

Siamese Tobacco.
The best tobacco in Siam is grown at Petchabun. It is planted in open fields near the town after the floods in September or October, and the first crop, or tips, which is considered the best quality, is gathered about February and the last about the beginning of May. The very best quality cannot be purchased, as it is reserved for the special use of the king and sent down to Bangkok, where it is smoked in the palace and distributed to the chief officers of state.

Never Learned How to Live.
There are people who go through life looking for slights, and they are necessarily miserable, for they find grievances everywhere. One has the same pity for such men as for the very poor. They are the morally illiterate. They have had no real education, for they have never learned how to live.

Still in the Family.
Jack—My grandfather had a very fine collection of silver, which he bequeathed to my father on the condition that it should always remain in the family. Ethel—Then you have it still? Jack—Well—er—my uncle has it.

His Suspicions Aroused.
Reggie—I hear you've broken it all off with Edna. Archie—I should say so. That pet parrot of hers is all the time saying, "Kiss me again, Jack." That isn't my name, you know—Lip-pincott's.

Parts of Speech.
Teacher—Thomas, what are the parts of speech?
Tommy Tucker (after an exhaustive mental effort)—It's the way a man talks when he stutters.

The Better Scheme.
"The man who knows just what he wants is bound to be successful."
"Not half so much as the man who knows how to get what he wants."—Cleveland Leader.

GRAND SUBSCRIPTION AND ADVERTISING CONTEST

The "Glendale News" wants to place the paper in every home in the valley from Eagle Rock to Burbank and Ivanhoe to Casa Verdugo, and wants the advertising patronage of every man engaged in business in this valley.

The "News" will give cash prizes to the man or woman, boy or girl, obtaining the most new subscriptions and advertising during the time of this contest, which closes MAY 1, 1910.

The prizes will be as follows:

- 1st Prize—$20 for the most subscriptions or advertising
- 2d Prize—$15
- 3d Prize—$10
- 4th Prize—$5

Contestants failing to win one of the four cash prizes will be paid 10 per cent of all the cash turned in on either subscriptions or advertising. Cash must accompany all orders, and the following points will be awarded to each contestant:

One year, subscription in advance....	$1.50	1000 points
Two years, subscription in advance....	3.00	2500 points
Three years, subscription in advance....	4.50	4500 points
Four years, subscription in advance....	6.00	7000 points
Five years, subscription in advance....	7.50	10000 points
Six months, subscription in advance....	.75	400 points
Three months, subscription in advance....	.50	100 points

New advertising matter will be credited same as subscriptions. $1.50 secured on new advertising will give the contestant securing it 1000 points. Renewals of subscriptions, credited with one-half the above points.

The rates for advertising are as follows: First page, double rates. Other pages as follows: Display, 25 cents per inch; one issue, or $1.00 per calendar month; liners, 5 cents a line per issue. Twenty-five per cent off for all yearly contracts, payable in advance.

The News will print the classified Business Directory each week on first page free of charge for $1.00 or more in advertising. See that your name is in the Directory. All wishing to enter the contest, call at the News office and subscription blanks and instructions will be given. Remember, the contest will close May 1st, 1910. Get busy and enter now, so we can publish your name in our next issue.

The Bank of Glendale

Do You Keep Your Money at Home?

If so, some one knows it, and some one may know where you keep it.
Is it insured against loss?
Does it make your home any safer?
Dozens of houses in this county are robbed every week.
Who will be next?
A bank account will be a protection to you and your family.
If you pay your bills with money, people will suppose you keep the money in the house; if you pay by check, they naturally conclude that your money is in the bank, and the thief moves on.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Glendale and Vicinity Improvement Association was held last Friday evening at K. of P. hall. The attendance was not as large as at the two previous meetings; a large proportion of those present being ladies. The most important business transacted was the appointment of a committee to interview the officials of the Pacific Electric Railway company and see what can be done in the way of an improved car service.

A motion was carried unanimously that the association favors the celebration of the completion of Glendale's electric lighting system and will operate to the fullest extent with the board of trade in making the affair a success. It was agreed to meet at the city hall Thursday evening with the board of trade and discuss plans for the series of entertainments to be given at that time and to work out other details. When the association adjourned it was to meet in regular session on the regular meeting night, the last Friday in April.

WEDDED IN EARLY MORN.

Miss Myrtle Thornton and Edward Price were quietly married at the Holy Family church, Lomita avenue, east of Glendale avenue, last Monday morning at the early hour of 7:30 o'clock, by Rev. James S. O'Neill, pastor of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sauer attended the happy couple and were the only witnesses. They will reside at the pretty home which the groom has provided at the corner of Adams street and Third. Both young people are quite well known at this place.

BUSINESS CHANGES.

Mr. John A. Logan has sold his interest in the well-known Logan Bros. grocery to Mr. B. F. Andra, who for sixteen years past, until a few months ago, when he came to Los Angeles, has been engaged in that business in St. Louis. Mr. Andra has moved his family to Glendale and is prepared to help along in the growth and prosperity of the community. Mr. Logan has with Mr. Dan Campbell a controlling interest in the recently organized bank which will soon open for business at Tropic and will be the cashier of that institution.

T. F. B. CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED.

A society which will be known as the T. F. B. club will be organized in the Fraternal Brotherhood lodge tomorrow evening. Under the auspices of this organization a dance or other social event will be given, the benefits of which will go to the Fraternal lodge. The first of these events will be held in the L. O. O. F. hall on Fourth street tomorrow evening, this event being a dance. Hereafter on the first Friday night of each month an event will be given by this organization.

NEW YORK STATE PICNIC.

New Yorkers will picnic at Sycamore Park, Avenue 46, on the Garvanza car line, tomorrow (Saturday) April 2d. All comers invited to bring a basket luncheon. Coffee provided free to all wearing a badge obtainable on the grounds. All former New Yorkers invited.

We can save you money on chicken feed, as we have all kinds and the best at the lowest prices. Taylor Milling Co., San Fernando Road.

We will exchange nursery stock for a horse, wagon, harness or almost any old thing that has value. Call and see us about it or let us hear from you otherwise. Sunset Nurseries, Tropic.

TROPICO

Mr. Barum and family have moved into the house on the Schomer ranch, near the foot of Parke avenue.

An acre is being planted to lettuce on Parke avenue, between Brand boulevard and Central, by Japanese.

Capt. Britton of Sawtelle spent the week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan D. Burlingham of "Rose Villa."

Mrs. W. R. Light and house guest, Mrs. J. L. Gist of Santa Rosa, have returned from a visit to Mrs. Light's sister at Fullerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Randolph of Oak Drive left for Lemoore Thursday, on an extended visit to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Webster of El Centro are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster of Central avenue.

Mrs. Warren Cooper of Little Rock, Arkansas, is the house guest of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Daniel of Moore avenue.

Miss Ethel Whitaker and Miss Sadie Finkler of Santa Ana passed some time this week with Mrs. W. G. Black of Glendale avenue.

Mr. Fishback has purchased a lot on Parke avenue near the San Fernando road and is now erecting a home which he will occupy when completed.

Herbert Pratt, who for the past several weeks has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pratt of Glendale avenue, returned to his home in Colorado, Wednesday.

Several Japanese are planning the piece of land which comprises about eight acres at the southwest corner of San Fernando road and Parke avenue to meadows.

Mr. George Daniel, of New York, postoffice inspector, with headquarters in St. Louis, is touring the coast and visiting his brother, Mr. H. P. Daniel, of Moore avenue.

On account of increased business, Joseph Harrison, the local plumber, has found it necessary to put an addition to his shop at the corner of San Fernando road and Parke avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Reynolds of Los Angeles, moved this week into the house occupied some time ago by Mr. and Mrs. Folete and family on Central avenue near Tropic avenue.

Davenport & Black report the following sales: Five-room house and lot in the Wilkinson tract to H. A. Davis, for $2500; lot on Blanche avenue to S. E. Brown for $750; lot 50x150 in Davenport tract to G. Gidding, consideration $750.

The McDonald Oil and Water Elevator company, whose factory is situated at the Harrison machine shop, corner Parke avenue and San Fernando road, is working night and day in installing one of their elevators in the Sherman oil district.

Several thousand large cement blocks have been hauled from Los Angeles to be used in the foundation and walls of the new piano factory which will soon be started by the Salyer-Baumelster Piano company of Los Angeles. This company would have moved their plant to the place a long time ago had it not been for a lease which has yet some time to run at their present location.

Brand boulevard, between Parke avenue and the southerly line of the Glendale city limits is being nicely graded by W. W. R. Light, road overseer for this district. The northerly side of Parke avenue in the neighborhood of the boulevard is also being improved. It might be mentioned that the roads through this place and surrounding territory are in better condition than they have been for years. The work of Mr. Light is proving altogether satisfactory.

THIMBLE PARTY.

Mrs. Clarke G. Wilkinson entertained most delightfully with a thimble party at her home on San Fernando road, Tuesday, complimentary to Mrs. Frank Peters, of New York City, who is the house-guest of Mrs. Hal H. Davenport of Glendale avenue. Later a luncheon was served in the dining room, which was decorated in roses.

Those accepting the hospitality of Mrs. Wilkinson, and who bade Mrs. Peters a most cordial welcome upon her return to Tropic, were Mrs. Hal H. Davenport, Mrs. John Hobbs, Mrs. John Arthur Logan, Mrs. Andrew Stephenson, Mrs. Wesley H. Bullis, Mrs. A. O. Conrad, Mrs. John W. Parker, Mrs. Dwight Griswold, Mrs. Charles R. Wilkinson, Mrs. Anna Cole and Mrs. Ella Porter-Gaither.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

A most charming and delightful social event recently was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stephenson at their home on Central avenue Sunday, to commemorate their nineteenth wedding anniversary.

The house was most effectively decorated in ferns and roses. A large bowl of graceful ferns and fragrant roses occupied the center of the table. Baiting and replying in all of its appointments was this dinner party, and the guests for whom covers were laid were Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Logan, Miss Katherine Hobbs, Miss Dorothy Hobbs and Miss Mary Logan, Mr. C. C. West and Dwight Stephenson.

A FEW SQUIDS FROM TROPICO METHODISTS.

Next Sunday morning the usual preaching service will be held and the pastor will talk for his subject, "Resurrection and Character." At this service baptism will be administered to several people.

In the evening at 7:30 the Easter program, which was postponed from last Sunday on account of rain, will be given, and will consist of the following numbers: Vocal solo, Joseph Marple; cornet solo, Dr. Callender of San Francisco; vocal solo, Mrs. Chobe; violin solo, Mrs. Morgan, accompanied on the organ by her daughter; selections by the choir and special music by the orchestra.

The official board of the church, the cabinet of the Epworth League and prayer meeting will be held in the church next Thursday evening.

Next Tuesday an all-day meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the church will be held in the church parlors. On Tuesday evening a business meeting of the Epworth League will be held in the church.

TROPICO PRESBYTERIAN BRIEFS.

Our annual business meeting was held Wednesday evening. The reports show that now the Sunday school has a membership in all its departments of 206. The Christian Endeavor has 13 active and two associate members, while the church in membership is running close to the 100 mark. We have also closed the year without debt in any department. These reports show prosperity.

Next Sunday morning will be our regular communion service at which time we shall receive members. At 7:30 in the evening the Christian Endeavor will have charge of the service, after which the pastor will give a 30-minute Bible reading from the latter part of the first chapter of John. Our Philatelic and "Bible" classes are doing excellent work for the pastor.

The rain of last Sunday did not keep our people from attending church.

GOOD ROAD WORK STARTED AT TROPICO.

The people of this section will doubtless be surprised and pleased to learn that the good road work for which they have been waiting some time ago and which has been promised for the district ever since that time, has commenced. This work cannot be done in a day, nor a week, nor a month, and it is because of this that the work has not reached this place sooner.

The work on the road south of Tropic was commenced about three weeks ago, but it was not until this week that the gang reached this town. Forty head of horses and about 22 men are employed in this work. The road which is being improved will connect with Vermont avenue (Los Angeles), which, by the way, is also being improved at this time, and will extend as far northeast as the San Fernando road, where the eastern terminus will be. We are informed that at some time later the San Fernando road from Los Angeles will be improved through this place and farther north. No work is contemplated on Central avenue at present.

In the center of this new road a strip 16 feet wide will be macadamized, this being the "wearing strip." On either side of this strip will be seven feet of service oil, and the remaining five feet on either side will be like the regular oil road—making the road 46 feet in width. The macadamized strip in the center will be eight inches deep. Before laying any rock, which constitutes the foundation of the bed, the ground is firmly tamped by a large steam roller. One layer of broken rock is then laid upon the tamped ground and rolled to a solid foundation; a layer of oil is then put on. After this another layer of rock, then more oil, then another layer of rock. After each layer has been put on the whole thing is firmly rolled by the roller which weighs several tons. Water is sprinkled between every layer. After the final layer of rock has been firmly tamped the final coating of macadam is put on, completing the strip and making it like eight inches of solid rock.

The work of grading is being done by a patent excavator which is drawn along the center of the road by eight horses and fills one large dirt wagon. The grading through this property, which is owned by the Richardson and the Western Art Tile company, has been somewhat harder than is generally found, as it included the digging away of several small hills, the cuts being in some places from twelve to fourteen feet deep. At a point near the river where the road made such a sudden descent, the course of the road has been entirely changed. The new road running some thirty-five or forty feet to the south of the old road. This makes almost a straight road from the foot of Tropic avenue at the Southern Pacific tracks all the way to the river, and is a valuable improvement.

The stretch of road which is now being improved, from Vermont avenue to San Fernando road, is a distance of about two and three-fourths miles. The foreman of the work informs the writer that the work will be rushed to completion. Several cars of rock are expected to arrive this week from a quarry just south of San Fernando over the Southern Pacific road, so that this material will be on the ground as soon as or before it is needed.

R. Fryer is foreman of this improvement; P. R. Froelich is inspector, and the outfit with which the work is being done is owned by J. M. Montgomery.

WEST GLENDALE

Mr. Orman Bradley leaves today for Tonalá, Mexico.

Mrs. J. Haynes and baby of Los Angeles was a visitor in Glendale Saturday.

Mrs. Miner of Ivy street, has been entertaining a number of friends from her old home, Muskegon, Mich.

Miss Helen Coe of Pasadena was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stine of West Fourth street.

Miss Fern Brockman of Los Angeles was the guest of her little friend, Mildred Elliott, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Pearl Perkins, niece of Mrs. Everett, entertained her friend, Mr. Lawrence of Oregon, on Sunday.

The children of Mrs. George Francis have recovered from a very severe attack of the measles, and are attending school once more.

Mrs. Kissabeth and Mrs. Tilton and children were the guests of Mrs. Ed Clay Tuesday afternoon at her home 1517 Ivy street.

Mr. Merrican and family of Los Angeles are now occupying their new home recently built on Ivy street between Columbus and Pacific streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox have returned from a lengthy Eastern trip and are occupying their home on Hawthorne street. Mr. Cox was formerly with the Glendale Steam Laundry.

Richard Stine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Stine, a student of the U. S. C. at present in San Francisco and Berkeley, to which places he went in the interest of the track team of the University.

Mr. Wm. Fleetwood and family of Eastern Oregon, are the guests of Mrs. Jas. Everett, 1509 Hawthorne street. They have been visiting different parts of California for some time, and expect to return to their home soon.

Mrs. Jas. W. Everett of 1509 Hawthorne street, had as her guests Wednesday Mrs. Lela Rustamir of 2219 Wall street, Los Angeles, who is an old schoolmate. Of course, it was against the feminine law for these ladies to talk very much during the day.

Among new arrivals in our midst are Mr. and Mrs. Cheney and son of Topeka, Kas. They expect to make their home in Glendale and are presently located at 1501 Ivy street, the home built by C. Frank Smith.

Little Bernadine Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Boyd of 1416 Ivy street, has been quite ill with severe case of tonsillitis, but under the efficient care of Dr. Chase, has so far recovered as to be around the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham were very agreeably surprised Wednesday evening by about twenty-five friends, the occasion being Mrs. Cunningham's birthday. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing cards, after which a delightful luncheon was partaken of.

Mrs. Will Petty of Vine street entertained Thursday at whist, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Tobin, who is spending the winter here.

The guests numbered twenty. The first prize, a handsome vase, was won by Mrs. Dow for high score; the second went to Mrs. McKee, and the consolation to Mrs. Tobin. Afterward a delightful luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Snively, Mrs. H. W. Petty and Mrs. C. B. Cunningham.

Mrs. Laura Scamman and Mrs. John L. Russ of Millford street, gave a delightful luncheon on Easter Sunday complimentary to Mr. Dunn and daughter, Miss Helen of Bethany, Mo., who are making a tour of California. Covers were laid for Mr. Dunn, Miss Helen Dunn, Mr. R. W. Dederling, Miss Laura Dederling, Joseph Hayes and Freddie Hayes. The house was tastefully decorated and despite the inclemency of the weather a most delightful afternoon was spent.

One day last week a family started from Los Angeles taking with them a young son who was very low with tuberculosis. Before they were a great distance out of the city the young man began to fall and when the train reached Burbank they were obliged to leave the cars and have him removed to Dr. Thompson's sanitarium, where the sufferer died that day. The family were absolutely penniless, having nothing at all save their tickets, so through the kindness of the people of Burbank a purse was raised for them a lot purchased in the Grand View cemetery, and the body given a very nice burial. Surely, the saying that "A friend in need is a friend indeed" is applied to any case any better than this, as every one concerned were absolute strangers to the afflicted family.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH NOTES.

One of the finest entertainments that has ever been given in Glendale will take place this (Friday) evening at the K. of P. hall, for the benefit of the athletic club of the school. Not only the best of local talent will be heard, but the finest outside talent that can be secured as well. Mrs. Shank, and every one knows the quality of her voice, has kindly consented to render four of her very best vocal numbers, two of which will be of interest to the children and the other two more for the enjoyment of the adults.

Miss Fitzgerald, the noted elocutionist of Los Angeles, will be heard in a number of her charming readings and—well, I'm not going to tell about all the treats that are in store. O, yes, don't fail to be on hand and hear the "Gibson Minstrels." Come early so as to secure a good seat, and you will leave saying "Well, I couldn't have spent my quarter to any better advantage." The price of admission for children will be 10c.

Owing to the weather on Easter Sunday there was not a very large attendance at the services of the Mission church. However, those who did brave the storm, listened to a very fine sermon by the pastor, Rev. Morrison. The church was very prettily decorated for the occasion.

At the next meeting of the church officials they will decide on the ways and means of starting a fund for the erection of a new building, as the one they now occupy is by all means too small, either for regular services or socials, etc.

News, Social, Personal and Otherwise

Mr. J. Brewer, of Victoria avenue, has been sick with the grippe.

Mr. Lester Edwards has returned home from the Santa Fe hospital.

The Los Angeles Gas Company has started work on Colorado street.

Miss H. Hutchinson has returned home after a long visit in Los Angeles.

Miss E. Brewer will be married to Mr. R. Stockwell of Eighth street, Los Angeles. The ceremony will be performed at Pico Heights. They will stay at Mrs. Brewer's home for a month and then go to Arizona.

Lester Edwards, Helen Howard and Daisy Rodgers, of Eagle Rock, met with a serious accident Wednesday night when the horse they were driving took fright at a passing automobile and ran away. At the Lincoln Park crossing an engine on the Santa Fe railroad crashed into them, seriously injuring Miss Howard, whose injuries are pronounced fatal by the physician, painfully injuring Miss Rodgers, while Lester Edwards escaped with slight injuries.

A FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION IN THIS VALLEY.

At a meeting of the Glendale chamber of commerce at the city hall, Thursday evening, March 18th, 1910, among other matters discussed and done, the matter of a Fourth of July celebration to be held this year at Verdugo Park was considered and a committee consisting of Rev. Dr. Humphrey, Hon. T. W. Watson and Edgar Leavitt, was appointed to take the matter in charge and invite the co-operation of the Improvement Association of Glendale and vicinity, as well as of the various churches, lodges, clubs and other organizations and people in general of Glendale, West Glendale, North Glendale, Tropic and Eagle Rock. It is hoped therefore that all persons heretofore referred to will take notice and respond heartily to the call that will soon be issued for a meeting to consider a program, ways and methods. It is also hoped that every individual and organization as well will from now on begin to lay his plans for spending the day in this valley, and thus promote the interests of this valley instead of going away to Los Angeles, the beach towns or elsewhere. If your lodge or Sunday school or your family and friends are going on a picnic that day come with us and help us to make a big good time.

Reasons for this movement:
1. This is a patriotic day and a patriotic occasion. This community is just as patriotic as any other in this nation and ought to make a local community manifestation of it, which we do not do when we as a community neglect the day and scatter off to other localities, or go on our individual or little elite excursions.
2. Our patriotism should not only be broad and national embracing our whole land, but we should also be possessed by a local patriotism, a civic pride which should lead us to celebrate the nation's great anniversaries as a community, at home, at which we should encourage not only our appreciation of our nation at large, but of the locality that we call our home. National patriotism is only an expression of local patriotism, and he can hardly love his country who does not love his home.

3. Looked at from the practical side of a merely advertising project which will appeal with great force to some, it is good policy to have it known abroad that the people of this valley have such a spirit of self-appreciation that they invite people to come to them, instead of having to go away from home to get satisfaction, to find something worth seeing and worth hearing on this day. There are two kinds of people in this world, and two kinds of countries, the drawers and the drawn, the leaders and the led; let us be those who attract others to us; let us be the leaders rather than the led; and let us all pull together instead of pulling apart, in a thousand different directions.

4. Why at Verdugo Park? Because this is the finest place for the purpose, not only in this valley, but in the entire vicinity of Los Angeles. Plenty of delightful cooling shade, beautiful scenery of leafy tree and brake, and running water; and with the recent improvements and more convenient transportation service that is about being installed, as a locality for our purpose, Verdugo is wholly unsurpassable.

Last year a celebration of our nation's birthday was held at Verdugo Park through the earnest co-operation and hard work of a few friends in Tropic and Glendale, and a fine address was given by Gen. Prescott of Los Angeles. We had some good people present but not as many as the occasion and the speaker merited. This year let us rally round the flag that day. Fourth of July is one of our permanent home institutions.

This Wise Bear, introducing his bride, writes as follows: "I am now the happiest bear in this section. This is the reason: I had been trying for more than a year to get married, but these awful high prices on groceries discouraged me. I had not heard of McGillis' grocery and their low prices up to that time. I was told that they were just about the same as the lowest Los Angeles prices, and that they kept everlastingly at it, too. That, and that alone, justified me in getting married. Oh, I am so happy. Yours truly, BRUIN."

GLEN EYRIE CHAPTER BANQUET.

Glen Eyrie Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, commemorated its fourth anniversary with a formal reception and elaborate banquet at the Glendale Country Club house, Wednesday evening. As this was the first social event that Glen Eyrie Chapter has ever given, the committee in charge, Miss Cora Hickman, Past Matron and Past District Deputy Grand Matron, Mrs. David H. Imler, Past Matron, Mrs. Dan Campbell, Worthy Matron, Mrs. Edward W. Emery, Ruth, Mrs. John Hunchberger, Martha, and Mrs. Will J. Blain, Electa, endeavored to make this anniversary a memorable and delightful social event. In this they fully succeeded, for Wednesday night's function was not alone one of the most charming and replete in the Eastern Star, but the most brilliant and elaborate event of its kind ever given in Glendale. From the artistic arrangement of the effective decorations to the last sweet strain of music, everything was replete and the committee is delighted with the charming success while Glen Eyrie chapter is proud of its social achievement and first celebration of its anniversary. Sweet memories will be hung on the fourth milestone. Huge bowls of white Cherokee roses, and trailing ivy, with the mantle banked in Marguerites and the chandeliers twined with graceful greenery, gave to the reception room a most pleasing and effective setting. In the banquet room ferns and graceful greenery welcomed one's eye. The damask was strewn with plumose, while bowls of white lilies emitted a delicate fragrance. Place cards were gold beveled with the insignia of the Eastern Star in gold on the left hand corner. A five course banquet followed the reception. A stringed orchestra furnished music during the evening. Music, gay repartee, laughter and toasts sparkling with wit and humor, handsomely crowned women and gallant men and Glen Eyrie's social achievement became a sweet, happy memory as the chimes of twelve, midnight, were heard. Miss Hickman presided as toastmistress in a most charming and felicitous manner. Benjamin B. Cartwright, Past Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter, of the State of California, responded to "Glen Eyrie Chapter." Mrs. David H. Imler, "Our Matron and Patron."

Dr. A. L. Bryant, "Our Past Matrons." Mrs. Dan Campbell, "Our Past Patrons." Mrs. Edward W. Emery, "Reminiscences of a trip through Arizona with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce." Prof. George W. Moyle, "Memories of Glen Eyrie Chapter." David H. Imler, "Longings for Glen Eyrie Chapter by an absent Past Patron." Mrs. George U. Moyle, "Our Absent Members." Col. Thomas Thornton, "Visions of a new Masonic hall and chapter room with banquet hall." Prof. A. W. Tower, "How to be a true Eastern Star." Mr. Dan Campbell, "The husband of the Worthy Matron." Miss Hickman read greetings from Miss Laura Bulkeley, a well remembered past officer, who is now residing in Portland, Oregon. A toast to the absent members was drunk, pure crystal mountain water. Following the banquet a short program was rendered, after which the host and hostesses with their guests enjoyed a pleasant conversation, loath to depart.
